

Empowering Communities from Within: The SWEETIE project and Tools for Multicultural Support

17 September • 11:00–13:00 • Online

How can we move from providing passive aid to building resilient, empowered communities?

Join us for the final event of the SWEET project, a European partnership bringing together organisations from Italy, Poland and Greece! The project is implemented by three organisations: ActionAid Italia, Polish Migration Forum and KMOP – Social Action and Innovation Centre.

During the event, we will present the SWEET Method – an innovative approach to multicultural support that empowers Ukrainian beneficiaries to become active information providers, community connectors and sources of support for others within their communities.

You will discover how this approach can help transform traditional support models and strengthen community resilience from within.

What will you take away?

- Insights into the SWEET Method and the experience gained through its implementation across three European countries
- Practical tools and solutions for providing effective support in multicultural communities
- Inspiration on how to empower community members to actively contribute to the wellbeing and resilience of others
- Approaches that can be adapted, scaled and applied in different European contexts

Whether you work with migrant and refugee communities, provide social or psychosocial support, or are simply interested in innovative approaches to community empowerment, this event will offer practical inspiration and tools you can take into your own work.

This event is organised in the framework of the European project „SWEETIE – Supporting Women and youth in Emergency with Environment of Trust In Europe”.

The event will be held online. Reserve your spot by completing the registration form and join us for this inspiring conversation!

Come and discover how communities can become stronger – from within.
