If one of Kevin’s vehicles is ever stolen, his business could be ground to a halt. This could cost time, money, and possibly his reputation.

Live tracking means Kevin can check, within seconds, if all of his vehicles are where they should be and (if the worst were to happen) can pass on the live location to the authorities. Customisable alerts also mean he is notified whenever there is suspicious activity suspected.

“The customer support is excellent - they’re just one phone call away!”

Kevin has set up Fleet Geo’s customisable alerts to notify him when drivers are back at the business’s premises, he knows exactly which drivers are available to meet or available for the next job.

This, combined with an ability to know which drivers are servicing the same areas at the same time, has allowed the K A Page Groundworks’s team to be perfectly in sync.
