To whom it may concern

Reference: Madeline Halkos

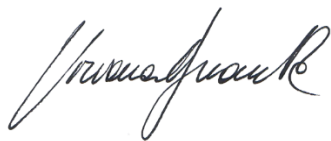

Madeline Halkos is currently a Third Year Student at English National Ballet School. She joined the course in September 2021 and is due to complete it in July 2024.

Madeline is a hardworking and dedicated student with a professional and positive attitude. During her time with the school, she has developed her classical ballet and contemporary dance techniques as well as her performance skills as she prepares for upcoming performances. She has shown herself to be a willing collaborator in the studio when working with choreographers.

As part of the course, Madeline has been training in classical ballet and contemporary, as well as receiving coaching in repertoire from a variety of highly experienced dancers and coaches. Students also have performance opportunities working with international choreographers to have new works created for them.

I have no hesitation in recommending Madeline to you. I hope you will consider her for your company.

Yours sincerely
