

The Holy Qura'n contains amazing scientific facts, that haven't been discovered by the world

Written by: Dr. Samira AbdelRahman

Are the scientific researches unable until now to discover the scientific miraculous nature of the Holy Qura'n and the Holy Prophetic Sunnah?

I think so, there is a Canadian Professor whose name is "Kith Moore", He wrote a book in which he emphasized that he never knew that there is a religious book (he meant the Holy Qura'n) which contains that amount of science and this was after the people explained to him what exists in the Holy Qura'n, although he is a non Muslim

He then gave a copy of his book to Saudi Arabia in order to print and distribute it freely and he even refused to sell it.

What is the most important thing that was mentioned in that book for "Keth Moore"?

Sheikh sha'arawi, Sheikh Abdel Mageed Al-Zendany and some anatomy scientists working in king AbdelAziz university in Saudi Arabia compared the English new phases in the creation of human beings with what has been mentioned in the Holy Qura'n and they translated it into Arabic , then they noticed how accurate these words were

From my own experience in science of Embryology, I'd like to mention something that's very simple but it has a big scientific value, that nobody can realize except a researcher in that kind of sciences, for example the words" Nutfah Amshaj" which means drops of mixed semen (discharge of man and woman).

It is meant by "mashaj" mix, but we may ask: why the word "Nutfah" here is single, whereas "Amshaj" is plural. The answer is that "Amshaj" is the woman's seed and the man's seed. And they mix together losing their nature and thus a new human is created. But "Nutfah" is single because it means only the woman's sperm, and afterwards the male's sperm mixes with it and there will be a new baby born. This means that "sperm" is single because the female is always responsible for nutrition and there has been mixing inside her and as a result a new baby was created, i.e. the two sperms are separated inside the woman.

Do u think that we are still delinquent in using the miraculous scientific examples of the Holy Qura'n as a means for spreading Islam abroad? And how can we overcome our delinquency?

The Arabic language is very accurate and sometimes it is difficult to find accurate translation in English. I was asked in many English scientific magazines to translate two researches that I read in a conference and I was able to translate one of them. Its subject was about "the senses of hearing and seeing" but it was really hard to translate the first phases in human's creation into a different language and obtain the accurate meanings.

But of course if we can do this, it will play a significant role.
