

Subbr.group AG is hiring a web developer (40-60%)

You are looking for a challenge? So are we. At subbr.group, we build Conode: SaaS that simplifies the digital work environment for people with inter-disciplinary jobs. Think streamlined workflows, perfect interfaces and seamless integrations...

subbr.group is an early-stage software startup formed by an epic team with varying backgrounds, origins and occupations. We have one thing in common: Together we are passionate about revolutionizing the way people organize their work. In order to achieve this, we need to build a stronger development team.

Your responsibilities

As web developer you will be joining a well-established and experienced team. You will take responsibility to explore the technical landscape and shipping monthly features. You independently align your goals with the team and in close cooperation with our CTO based on customer requests. Based on your experience and skill, you can either take a more frontend- or backend-flavoured role.

Qualifications

- Experience in Typescript
- BACKEND A good understanding of public REST APIs of SaaS
- BACKEND Practical knowledge about MongoDB, NodeJS, and Express.js
- FRONTEND You know React (Native) & Redux
- FRONTEND Understanding of graphic design
- Rapid autodidact skills to fix anything that is missing (incl. the above)
- A "fuck it let's do it" mentality
- An opinion about digital productivity

Working for a startup is tough - but it's fun, too! You agree? Well in this case, do get in touch with us through : hello@subbr.com
