

fun chamber music concert for kids with DIY instrument building and audience participation

2/13 2024 10am Bohemian National Hall NY
admission free

How to Become a Composer in 60 Minutes

Ever seen a real composer? Not only will you meet one, but you can actually become one! First, get inspired by some cool pieces written by famous Czech composers Bedřich Smetana, Leoš Janáček and Antonín Dvořák. Compose your own piece of music with your friends and the help of a real composer. Listen to and record your brand new piece with the help of our musicians. Plus! You get to perform with us on stage playing your own DIY musical instrument – and you can keep it to take back to school!

What to expect?

- 60 minutes full of live music and interactive musical experience
- All kids create an upcycled DIY instrument to play and to keep
- Music by Czech composers Bedřich Smetana, Leoš Janáček and Antonín Dvořák (to commemorate Year of Czech Music 2024)

Klára Boudalová is a Czech early music soprano and a teaching artist. She works with symphonic orchestras across Europe to develop fun and meaningful outreach projects for various audiences. She led outreach and community projects for the Czech Philharmonic, she is in charge of education activities of Prague Spring Festival, and the European City of Culture 2028 foundation. She is the author of VALENTIANA teaching method, which she uses to work with participants from diverse communities.

Beata Moon is a Korean-American classical pianist, composer and educator. A versatile musician acclaimed for her expressivity and sincerity, Beata continues to reach audiences through her many-faceted roles. Moon also works as a teaching artist for Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center, the New York Philharmonic and Marquis Studios where she has led workshops and designed curricula tailored for students and participants of various backgrounds and disabilities.

