

How to Do Your Homework- Talking Tom's Brainfarts

It was only a nightmare. I thought my homework was chasing me. But luckily that's something I don't have to worry about anymore. You know why? Because I figured out how to get homework done as quickly and easily as possible! First things first, don't let anything distract you. Just one second... Step one: gather up all your school stuff! Now that you've got all your materials, it's time for... Oh no, look at this mess. Better straighten this stuff up first. There, that's more like it. Okay, to begin with, the most important thing about homework is that... Uh oh, my phone is only at ninety-nine percent. I better charge this before I start any homework or it might die on me! Okay, so the first thing about financial accounting homework. Whoa, did you hear that? I should eat or I won't be able to concentrate. Ben, help me out and toss me some brain food, buddy. Ben, I said brain food, not grain food! Not plain food! Come on! This is just a toaster.

What am I supposed to do with that?

Wait a minute, this gives me an idea. Man, this is delicious. Toast and oatmeal! That's what this video was about, right? Oh yeah, it's supposed to be about homework or something. Okay, so here's the first next step. You want to read over all of the -- sorry, I really need to use the bathroom. Just give me one second, I'll be right back! Okay, now where were -- uh oh, forgot to wash my hands! All done, finally. Now when it comes to homework, you need to focus! Focus. Focus. Focus. Fo... Oh sorry, I was pretty exhausted after all that excitement. A power nap does magic, and is essential for your homework. Just five more minutes. Alright, doesn't everyone feel better now?! And hey, my phone battery is at a hundred and twenty percent now. Fully charged! This means we can finally move on to the homework itself!! So, the most important thing about homework is.... Err... Ben! Ooops! There's no more time. We might not have covered everything, but now you know if you prepare well, your homework just flies by. Until next time, thanks for tuning in! Don't forget to subscribe, before you do your homework. And homework is to subscribe.
