3. Additional Information

XDSL services	Currently number portings "should" not impact any DSL services, which the customer has on the same line, but having said that it is the responsibility of the customer to verify this with the DSL service provider. Coolwave is solely responsible for the number porting and not for the DSL service.
ISDN connection	Please note that porting of a separate numbers from an ISDN connection can result in a cancellation of all remaining sets of numbers that are assigned to the same connection by the current operator. If these numbers need to be ported as well, please specify them as such. If they need to remain active at the current operator, it is advised that the customer contact the current operator to make sure this is the case. Coolwave has no rights/permissions to instruct the current operator to do so.
