Hood for heights

Designed by Officine Gullo founder Carmelo Gullo, the "Restari" collection includes range cookers and hoods. Made in its Tuscan workshops, they can be finished in any RAL or custom colour, with various cooking options, including burners and induction. This "Restari 120 Classic Door" stove, £21,225, is shown with a "Dome" hood, £13,825, in RAL "Traffic Blue" with burnished brass fittings. 020 7036 8632; officinegullo.com

The heat is on

Blind-built in the Cotswolds, Everhot's new traditional-style electric heater is made from steel and cast iron. The 1.6kW heater does not require a flue and simply plugs into a standard 13-amp socket. It weighs 40kg and can be moved from room to room if needed, and will warm up a chilly kitchen in just 20 minutes. Available in 21 Everhot colours - including matt black, which is exclusive to heaters and stoves - it is shown in sage, burgundy and dirty pink. £1,105. 01453 890918; everhot.co.uk

Looking glass

An innovative design departure for Aga, the "Eva" electric range cooker has the cast-iron heritage the company is known for, but also an induction hob and glass doors. The oven temperatures are controlled by a touchscreen panel, with easy-to-use, radiant heat ovens that allow roasting and simmering, as well as a conventional fan oven. Available in black, it is £13,900. 0800 111 6477; agacooking.com

At the double

The "Free-standing Dual Fuel" range cooker from Fisher & Paykel has a five-burner hob with a dual wok burner and two triple-ring burners. The 140-litre convection oven offers nine functions, including pastry-bake, pizza and rotisserie modes. It is self-cleaning and has a circulation system to allow dishes on the top shelf to cook at the same temperature as those on the lower shelves. It costs £4,670. 0800 888605; fisherpaykel.com

CURATED

Added Spice

From appliances to lighting, textiles to tableware, a kitchen is a delicate balance between the necessary and the desirable that gives the room its flavor. Many appliances check both boxes, with brands like La Cornue, Officine Gullo, and Rangecraft offering ovens, refrigerators, and hoods in customizable colors. Induction cooktops are gaining traction with those looking for a less-is-more approach. "They're the best things ever," says O'Sullivan, who installed one in his own London flat. "Purely from a practical point of view, they're really fast, they're really efficient, and when you're done, you just wipe them clean."

Baskets, trays, and vessels also bring personality into the room while ensuring clients keep the kitchen photo-ready year-round. "If you're a stylist at heart, you can help the clients by giving them the right containers," says Zandberg. "You can have beautiful African wooden bowls or terra-cotta pots from Italy. Then within that container, you can stow away clutter and be as messy as you like." —JILL SIERACKI

Good to know

To increase the life of any appliance it's important to understand how easy it is to repair and maintain. Are moving parts replaceable and easily recyclable? Also, establish who is responsible for the repair should anything go wrong: is it the manufacturer or the retailer? Before you buy, make sure you understand the warranties on offer: are they for certain parts of the appliance or for a complete replacement? And check whether you can extend the warranties over and above the initial one or two years offered. This is important because it's vital to keep any kitchen appliance working efficiently for as long as possible to avoid unnecessary waste going to landfill.

"Although an eco-friendly washing machine may have a higher price point, it will save you money over time through lower energy and water bills."

Sara Erman, general manager of Electrolux Group UK and Europe

금속과 공예의 주상, 오피치네 골로

올해의 디자인 트렌드 중 하나는 '오피치네 골로'입니다. 이는 이탈리아의 전통적인 금속 공예 기술을 현대적으로 재해석한 것으로, 주방의 중심이 되는 주방 아일랜드와 싱크대, 그리고 벽면 장식 등에 적용됩니다. 이 트렌드는 고급스러운 분위기를 연출하며, 주방의 기능성과 미적 가치를 동시에 충족시킵니다.

DECORATE design ideas

Add decorative layers with furnishings

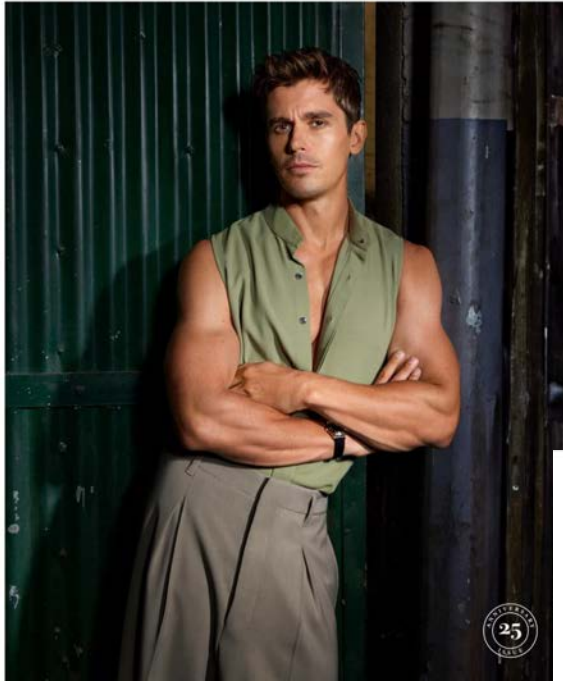

What is the key to using beautiful fabrics or wallpaper in a kitchen? Good ventilation perhaps – big windows that can be flung open and a really good extractor fan. Both of the rooms on this page have just such an appliance but, this aside, they also provide a convincing argument for elevating the kitchen to something beyond a utilitarian space and decorating it as you would any other interior. The historic Château d'Aunoy, south east of Paris, has enviably high ceilings, but there are ideas to be picked up for more modestly proportioned rooms. The walls of the kitchen (left) have been upholstered in a classic gingham fabric, which has also been used for an under-sink curtain and to line the doors of the glazed cabinet opposite.

At the Castle of Trematon, near Saltash in Cornwall, House of Hackney founders Frieda Gormley and Javvy M Royle worked with DeVol to create this layered room (below). Their company's 'Plantasia' wallpaper in sage has been paired with curtains in its 'Trematon Stripe' jacquard cotton in verdigris, both of which tone well with the zellige tiles from Mosaic Factory used for the splashback. The copper of the extractor hood and brass details on the range cooker, both from Officine Gullo, and the original parquet flooring introduce an authentic feel. When Altar Becomes Kitchen Island

Writer Claudia Cusano

Italy has no shortage of churches—more than 100,000, according to some sources. In Florence, Chiesa di San Salvatore di Ognissanti, located in the piazza of the same name, is a legendary place in Catholic culture. This baroque church is the burial place of the Birth of Venus painter Sandro Botticelli, explorer Amerigo Vesputti, and Caroline Bonaparte Murat, Napoleon's younger sister. Mozart is said to have played the church's organ when visiting the city with his father in the late 18th century, and there are numerous important Renaissance works inside, including the brilliant blue crucifix by Giotto. In the adjacent deconsecrated chapel is the showroom of Officine Gullo, the Florentine kitchen maker that has transformed altar to kitchen island.

The renovation was led by Milanese studio SuperSpatial who focused on complementing the sacred location with the contemporary. The state-of-the-art demonstration kitchen includes an island, two ovens, multiple gas burners, pasta maker, wine fridge, purpose-built espresso machine, and nearly every other imaginable kitchen accoutrement. The Officine Gullo aesthetic is distinctive, yet each creation is bespoke and crafted from materials like steel, cast iron, burnished copper, and bronze—in this context, a marriage of modern and millennia old. The display kitchen is fully functional and much more than just an exhibition space. "This is a place we come to break bread and be immersed in Florentine tradition," says Andrea Gullo, who, along with his brothers and father, hosts private events for their international clientele in the showroom. "The space has become a place of social gathering, to share in the conviviality of life." A secret passageway leads to the church itself for unrestricted access to its historic and artistic treasures.

Whether dining at the chef's table, taking part in Italy's prolimner ritual of apericena, or simply passing by and entering to view the showroom, Officine Gullo House gives new meaning to place of worship. ●

design	UNA / UNLESS Architecture Studio
year	2023
location	Filicudi, Aeolian Island
size	600 sqm

La forte vocazione culturale che contraddistingue lo studio interdisciplinare UNA / UNLESS, fondato dall'architetto Giulia Foscarini, permea il progetto di Ca' Paradisiola. Un approccio radicale, un'incessante ricerca critica sono le basi da cui il team di architettura è partito per disegnare gli spazi di una suggestiva villa nell'isola isolana di Filicudi.

La Sicilia costituisce una combinazione perfetta tra due condizioni: l'essere isola e l'essere continente. Grazie alla sua morfologia, alla sua conformazione geologica e alla sua posizione geografica, essa racchiude in un unico territorio la ricchezza del mondo. Nell'arcipelago delle Eolie, oltre la sua costa, c'è una montagna in mezzo al mare: Filicudi, isola vulcanica dal sottosuolo infuocato, circondata dal mare blu e sovrastata dal Monte Fossa Felci, un vulcano spento alto 774 metri. Tra vento e sole cocente, realizzare un'architettura a Filicudi non è impossibile, ma certamente rappresenta una sfida audace. La natura è intensamente connotata ed è necessario ragionare sul modo in cui essa può essere interpretata e vissuta.

Ca' Paradisiola si trova sulla punta di un promontorio, in una posizione "acropolica": lo studio di architettura ha scelto di concepire gli ambienti come uno strumento in grado di chiudere i suoi abitanti e percepibile al meglio ciò che li circonda. E così, resistendo alla tentazione di imporre una nuova architettura all'apice dell'altura, la villa è stata realizzata incorporando alcune preesistenze e attingendo da un repertorio di soluzioni tipologiche individuate nelle rovine che ancora oggi si trovano in tutte le isole Eolie.

L'articolazione della casa ha previsto la costituzione di due volumi, uno dedicato alle funzioni più prettamente domestiche dell'abitare, l'altro occupato interamente da un ampio ambiente da cui si possono contemplare tutte le isole fino alla Sicilia. Le stanze presentano interni monocromi minimalisti: gli ambienti sono contraddistinti da superfici lisce riflettenti in calce fina e da nicchie studiate ad hoc che incorporano le luci indirette e offrono semplici ammobiliature.

Il settore centrale del volume dedicato all'abitare è attraversato da una doppia sala passante che accoglie una splendida cucina professionale di Officine Gullo, scelta in una tonalità verde simile al salvia che connota i serramenti di tutta la casa.

UNA / UNLESS ha dato vita a un progetto di cucina minimalista trasformando l'ambiente in un'espressione di colore e stile. Il blocco cucina professionale Officine Gullo emerge e spicca cromaticamente in contrasto con le superfici e gli spazi candidi, che offrono spettacolari panorami sul mar Mediterraneo. Con una lunghezza di quasi tre metri e mezzo, il blocco cucina rappresenta una combinazione di ingegneria e design, ospitando un lavello integrato, un piano di lavoro neutro, un frytop liscio, quattro bruciatori a gas e un piano cottura a induzione nella parte superiore. Nella parte inferiore trovano spazio moduli estralisci, una lavastoviglie, due scomparti con doppi cassetti e un forno professionale. La finitura in RAL 6021 Verde Pallido Lucido e i dettagli cromati lucidi conferiscono alla cucina un'eleganza speciale: richiamano il luccichio delle acque mediterranee protette dagli scogli delle isole che si possono scorgere allungando lo sguardo verso le porte affacciate sul mare. Proprio per la sua posizione prossima alle acque marine, il blocco è stato realizzato completamente in acciaio inox AISI 316 di alta qualità, noto per la grande resistenza alla corrosione e durabilità.

Al vertice più lontano del monte, la zona living appare isolata e solitaria, delimitata al suo interno da un divano in muratura in cui spicca, tra i cuscini soffici di lino, un inaspettato "cuscino" di travertino tagliato a spacco che forma la base di un camino. Tutti gli spigoli vivi di questo vano sono arrotondati, in una sorta di effetto

Isole di stile e funzionalità

Le isole di cottura dell'omonima collezione sono autentici elementi di design capaci di ridefinire l'ambiente circostante, diventando veri e propri "pezzi unici" attorno ai quali ruota l'intera cucina. Caratterizzate dall'iconica estetica e dalle elevate prestazioni tipiche di Officine Gullo, uniscono l'armonia delle forme alle più moderne tecnologie, lasciando massime possibilità di personalizzazione. A partire dalle dimensioni, visto che la linea è composta da cinque modelli di diverse larghezze, l'isola si presenta così come un oggetto funzionale, misto a favorire la libertà di movimento e a conferire fluidità allo spazio. In queste pagine mostriamo la versione 240 in un elegante colore nero opaco con finiture cromo lucido e top in acciaio spazzolata, inserita all'interno di una cucina in falegnameria bianca, arricchita da un pannello in marmo Calacatta Black Vein. L'isola è accessoriata da un lato con quattro fuochi, un coup-de feu e un cuocipasta, mentre sul lato opposto presenta un lavello, un frytop liscio e una griglia elettrica a cottura diretta.

Four of the best Instant hot water taps

1 The Grohe 'Ref' tap showcases the brand's practical thinking. There's a smart child-lock to avoid little hands accessing the instant 99-degree Celsius filtered water, and a holiday mode to stop the maximum temperature in the tank while you are away, saving energy and money. £2,394 (grohe.co.uk)

2 Now promises something a little different. It uses your existing tap! Start with the filtered-water module, which easily attaches to your own plumbing, and then add as much extra functionality as you want – boiling, chilled or sparkling – all controlled via a touchpad on the kitchen worktop. From £299 (taproom.com)

3 Quooker has become synonymous with this type of tap, and for good reason. It produces boiling, filtered, chilled and sparkling water, all from the same spout. Its 'Fusion' design (pictured) and 'Flex' (with a pull-out hose) have come in two new finishes: 'Rose Copper' and 'Gunmetal'. From £1,590 (quooker.co.uk)

4 The attraction of the 'Mimosa Mini' tap from Perrin & Rowe is up to 90-degree Celsius filtered water from a compact under-sink tank. Plus, with eight metallic finishes (including satin brass, pictured) it's a modern touch that can fit into even more traditional kitchens. From £1,170 (perrinandrowe.co.uk)

Kitchens can seem quite sterile spaces, but Mandarin Stone's new 'Fabric Abstract' collection, part of the brand's wider 'Fabric' collection, aims to inject some softness. Mimicking the look of interwoven yarns, it's a porcelain tile (suitable for floors and walls) with the appearance of a lush damask. £70 per square metre (mandarinstone.com).

Ingis Hall's kitchens, crafted with care in its Lewes workshop, are bespoke creations, but for those wanting to invest in a whole project there is the new 'Laines' stool, made from solid oak with a subtle band-sawn texture. It offers a taste of the brand's signature look – a stylish, approachable, very Laine (ingishall.com).

Does cocktail hour often last longer than 60 minutes in your home? Look to Florentine luxury-kitchen manufacturer Officine Gallo, whose 'Bar & Lounge' range sees the firm put its customary love and craft into bespoke spaces like the 'Boulevardier' project in Paris (pictured). Its hanging chrome shelving set against Verde Guatemala marble, built-in wine cellar and sink offer everything an at-home mixologist needs. From approx £40,000 (officinegallo.com).

OFFICINE GULLO Le cucine che seducono le star ricordano le case coloniche toscane

di CATERINA RUGGI D'ARAGONA

Andrea Bocelli sfiora e soppesa l'acciaio e il rame brunito, la ghisa e l'ottone. Veronica Berti, sua moglie, si lascia ammaliare dai colori e dal design delle macchine da cottura. Sono un racconto a cinque sensi gli ultimi post pubblicati sull'account Instagram di Officine Gullo, la fabbrica fiorentina che sta portando l'arte rinnovata delle cucine di tradizione artigianale nelle case di star, atleti e imprenditori di tutto il mondo: da David Beckham a Tommy Hilfiger, da Serena Williams a Zoe Saldana. Lo showroom di Gullo sul Lungarno, all'interno di una cappella sconsacrata del complesso di San Salvatore a Ognissanti, offre percorsi sensoriali alla scoperta di una storia di cui è erede Carmelo Gullo, arrivato da Palmi (Reggio Calabria) a Firenze nel 1967, con un diploma e la passione per l'architettura. «Studiai Ingegneria agraria, per poi insegnare (per 20 anni) meccanica negli istituti superiori. Nel frattempo, costruivo meccanismi semplici di estrazione d'acqua dai pozzi per i Paesi in via di sviluppo. Di sera, invece, mi perdevi nelle librerie antiquarie. Lì ho scoperto la tradizione dei fumisti fiorentini che a metà Ottocento costruivano cucine in metallo per i palazzi nobiliari fiorentini», racconta il fondatore dell'azienda. Durante la Design Week Officine Gullo presenta il rinnovato showroom milanese, in via dell'Annunciata, e una nuova Isola. «Le nostre cucine di grandi dimensioni nascono per quelle famiglie che hanno la disponibilità di un cuoco privato e che vogliono riunire gli amici attorno al focolare, come si usava nelle case coloniche toscane», dice Carmelo Gullo, affiancato nella gestione aziendale dai tre figli: Pietro, che si occupa del mercato europeo; Andrea, dedicato all'Asia e Matteo, l'architetto, che sta curando l'espansione americana.

THE LATEST LAUNCHES, LOOKS AND IDEAS EXCITING US NOW

TEAM GREEN

We love the splash of colour Office Gullio added to this minimalist kitchen project in a villa on the Aeolian island of Filicudi. In an otherwise monochromatic space, the glossy green finish of the cooking range – housing an integrated sink, worktop, fry-top, four gas burners and an induction cooktop – feels fresh and current. Is this the fabulously soft shade to watch in 2024? We think so. Professional cooking range, price on request, Office Gullio

STONE AGE

Time is Caesarstone's new collection inspired by stone – specifically, the way it's transformed over millennia by geological processes. Referencing the effects of oxidation and fossilisation with brushed, scuffed or scored effects, the collection feels characterful and weathered, but with durability and a polished finish. We like 5113 Solenna, with its organic geometric motif. Caesarstone surfaces, from £2,000 per slab (installed cost)

FINE FINISH

It feels like glass-fronted cupboards are making a big comeback in kitchen design – they allow the same opportunities to add personality into the space as open shelving, but with a sleeker and slightly less dust-prone finish. And no one does this kind of smart design better than Poliform – its Alca Pro kitchen, shown here, features silver-grey wall units flanked by corvets of tinted glass. Alca Pro kitchen, price on request, Poliform

HIT THE TILES

Inspired by the tactility of terracotta, ArtCraft is a small but, yet, perfectly formed addition to Marazzi's Crogiolo collection. Made from porcelain, the tiles are presented in earth tones; it's through pattern and texture that they shine. The Rande (pictured) creates a 3D linear pattern with raised stripes in varying widths, while the more decorative of the collection, like the Segni tiles, add small scale patterns to a scheme. Price on request, Marazzi

Euro SMASH

A family-friendly kitchen renovation defies space constraints and achieves a striking aesthetic
By Chelsea Butler

A world-traveling couple with eclectic style and a love for entertaining wanted a kitchen suitable for large gatherings. While function was foremost on their wish list, the former space also needed a major renovation. The location of the former island also caused a lot of “pinch points” during meal prep.

Becca Ruggieri, a designer with Normandy Design Build Remodeling, was hired to create an efficient and stylish kitchen for this family in Burr Ridge, Ill., who love cooking together. The desired aesthetic was modern and European inspired, and a statement range and hood were the starting-off point for this new space.

Although there was an extensive list of appliances to include, as well as generous cabinetry for ample storage, the designer had to work within the existing footprint because the kitchen is made up of exterior walls. The budget also did not allow for an addition.

PERFECTING THE PALETTE
 Light wood and Scandinavian style were part of the original color scheme, but Ruggieri and her clients eventually gravitated toward a more high-contrast feel with the darker cabinets and light backdrop of the stone detail, porcelain wall slab and white quartz countertops.

“This family loved the Euro modern design but realized they lived in a more traditional home, so we worked to harmonize the styles for a remarkable kitchen aesthetic,” explained the designer. “We really wanted a lot of contrast here to have interest but also wanted this to seem warm and soft at the same time.”

Ruggieri chose to use the same glass and cabinet material in the breakfast room to create a cohesive look. She also incorporated a mix of materials, including stone, wood, and metal, to create a layered and textured feel. The lighting was chosen to create a warm and inviting atmosphere, with a mix of recessed and pendant lights.

The maple cabinets feature a brown/black stain, as the wife wanted more of a wood tone than something painted. Ruggieri says stained cabinets are more forgiving in the long run because they conceal dings and scratches a bit better than a painted cabinet.

APPLIANCE HEAVY
 This is the product category that drove the design — both functionally and aesthetically — as appliance selections were made first. The couple originally wanted a La Cornue range, but that choice would have eaten too much of their budget. Instead, they traveled to New York to hand-

Learn The former kitchen was cluttered with a large island, outdated appliances, and a lack of storage. The new design features a more open layout with a statement range and hood, and a mix of materials and textures.

DIMENTICATO IL FORNELLO che si poteva portare con sé per improvvisare un bicoce all'aperto, superato il grill classico da picnic e il barbecue di prima generazione – il design punta decisamente sull'esperienza all'aria aperta anche quando si tratta di cucina, con nuove proposte, sempre più tecnologicamente pensate per poter cucinare e mangiare all'aria aperta. Se barbecue e griglie restano i must dell'estate, capaci di creare quella convivialità informale e familiare che colora le domeniche assolate, cucinare all'esterno oggi significa potersi installare comodamente dietro una vera cucina, collocata in terrazza o in giardino. Le nuove frontiere del design outdoor espandono infatti gli orizzonti del vivere all'aperto, e non solo in termini di anodi. Permettono di portare en plein air l'intera ritualità della preparazione e cottura del cibo attraverso soluzioni riciclate per stile e funzioni: vere ➤

TODO AL VERDE

Aunque una inmensa paleta cromática, en todas las tonalidades imaginables, inundó al última edición del Salone de Mobile, uno de los colores más predominantes en las propuestas de las grandes firmas sin duda fue el verde, en diferentes intensidades. Claramente ligado a la naturaleza, pero también a la relajación y la esperanza, emerge como una pincelada fresca y vibrante que conquista todos los elementos del hogar, desde la cocina (como demuestran las campañas de Officine Gullo o las encimeras Istaria, de Cesar) hasta el baño (la firma Roca también ha caído rendida a sus encantos en su colección Ona), pasando por el mobiliario, tanto de interior como de exterior (como vemos en la silla de la colección Bambo, de Tectona). Pura vitalidad.

Socializing in the kitchen

ISOLA

The cooking islands in the Isola collection by Officine Gullo are authentic elements of design able to completely redefine the surrounding environment. Alongside the burners or induction hob, a series of powerful cooking accessories can be inserted such as pasta cookers, steamers, lava stone barbecues, mirror-polished fry tops and much more. A section of the top can be left free from cooking elements, dedicating it to the preparation and consumption of food. Depending on the size, Isola can be completed by a washing area with a small sink to be placed alongside the cooking accessories. In the photo Isola 248 in an elegant matt black colour called 'Obsidian Matte' with polished chrome finishes.

COOLING SYSTEM

The cooling system in the Gaggenau fridge-freezer with five climatic zones has been designed to keep food fresher for longer. It features fully extractable drawers that control humidity and have soft closure, protecting delicate ingredients. The refrigerated drawer occupies the whole width of the refrigerator. To guarantee that ingredients remain in the best conditions, the system offers different cooling settings that regulate moisture and temperature for different foods. With the Home Connect system the refrigerator can be controlled by phone or tablet. The internal cameras allow you to check remotely, or while doing the shopping, what food is in the fridge.

JEOMETRICA. LUCA NICHIETTO

Luca Nicchetto designs Jeometrica for Scavolini, a furnishing project that combines art and design. The design of the 29 mm thick framed door expresses a contemporary, minimal, and elegant language thanks to the aluminum profiles available in two different colors (Anthracite and Titanium) and the possibility of creating material combinations with matt lacquered finishes, decorative panels, veneers, stoneware, or glass. The possibility of choosing between a groove opening system and two types of linear and compact handles adds a further level of personalization. The J-System equipped back panel in laminate proves to be a functional resource that makes aesthetics and versatility its strong point. The system's versatility is guaranteed by the presence of holes that allow for the independent insertion of shelves, containers, and small accessories, modifying their positioning as needed.

STILEDISEGN OFFICINE GULLO

Una cucina hollywoodiana

Officine Gullo ha firmato la realizzazione della cucina dell'attrice hollywoodiana Zoe Saldana nella sua villa di Los Angeles

Sulle colline di Beverly Hills, a breve distanza dagli studi di Hollywood, risiede il jet set del cinema internazionale. Tra queste residenze esclusive, spicca quella di Zoe Saldana, celebre per i suoi ruoli in Star Trek e Avatar. La sua villa è caratterizzata da uno stile che fonde l'armonia delle forme classiche con la modernità dei materiali. L'accostamento di legno, marmo, ottone brunito e acciaio sono i protagonisti dell'ampia cucina, concepita come fulcro stesso della villa. Il progetto è stato firmato da Officine Gullo che ha lavorato in stretta collaborazione con l'attrice per rendere lo spazio al tempo stesso funzionale e glamour. Il pregiato marmo Green Forest, con la sua caratteristica 'retinatura' simile a foglie, definisce l'ambiente in modo distintivo. L'uso del bianco, abbinato alla generosa illuminazione naturale che filtra dalla grande finestra, crea un'atmosfera calda e accogliente, accentuata dall'impiego dell'ottone brunito sia per il lavandino semi-incassato che per il rubinetto flessibile. Nel progetto, la piena fruibilità dello spazio è stato un aspetto fondamentale. Per questo motivo, l'ambiente è stato mantenuto libero e arioso, incassando i punti luce nel controsoffitto e posizionando sull'ampia parete attrezzata la cappa a estrazione. Soluzioni che hanno conferito all'ambiente la massima pulizia formale e funzionalità.

La cucina è stata completata attraverso una ricca gamma di elettrodomestici che comprendono il blocco cottura a sei fuochi della linea Fiorentina, due forni multifunzione, un microonde, una cantinetta vini, un congelatore e due colonne frigorifero, oltre alla lavastoviglie. Elementi con prestazioni professionali, ma realizzati con le antiche tecniche della scultura rinascimentale nel rispetto dei principi dell'ergonomia domestica, per essere usati quotidianamente, nel massimo comfort. Con questo progetto, Officine Gullo conferma la sua capacità di realizzazioni di alto artigianato nel settore delle cucine in metallo della fascia luxury. Nella sua articolazione, la cucina della Villa di Zoe Saldana rispecchia al meglio i valori distintivi dell'azienda fiorentina e la sua capacità manifatturiera di armonizzare elementi classici e contemporanei, attraverso una qualità artigianale tutta italiana nella tradizione ultracentenaria dell'alto artigianato toscano. ●

Le culte du feu

Inspirée d'un modèle traditionnel, équipée d'un barbecue ou d'un four à bois, la cuisine en extérieur séduit tous les profils, du plus novice au plus aguerri. Par Olivier Waché

Deux-en-un

Dalazzetti, l'experte italienne du chauffage, s'y entend également en solutions de cuisson pour l'extérieur. Elle le prouve avec Creste, un système novateur composé d'une plancha en pierre de lave, d'un four à bois, de deux plans de dépôt, d'une chambre de combustion et d'un collecteur de graisses. Avec un seul foyer qui alimente à la fois la zone de cuisson et le four attenant, le modèle dispose d'un système qui achemine les fumées de la plancha vers le four. Celui-ci peut ainsi atteindre une température de 250°C en moins de 40 minutes, et jusqu'à 380°C pour cuire pains et pizzas. Quant à la plancha, elle offre un espace de cuisson prêt en 10 minutes, pour une cuisine aussi saine que savoureuse.

Cuisine de designer

Profitant de la Milan Design Week et du Fuorisalone, en avril dernier, Ernestomeda a dévoilé - dans son showroom entièrement rénové - la nouvelle cuisine de son directeur artistique, Giuseppe Bavuso, appelée K-Garden. Conçue pour l'extérieur sur la base du modèle K-Lab, elle en conserve les caractéristiques, comme les plans de travail inspirés des établis industriels, mais avec la polyvalence des espaces. Ultra-personnalisable, K-Garden peut accueillir plaques de cuisson, barbecues, grill, mais aussi divers éléments ouverts et autonomes qui composent des foyers équipés. Côté matières, place est donnée au bois, à l'acier inoxydable - notamment en finition mate -, et à diverses pierres comme celle de lave de l'Etna utilisée pour le plan de travail monobloc.

Le luxe en terrasse

On connaît Officine Gullo pour ses cuisines hors du commun, au style incomparable et à la personnalisation poussée. Les modèles de la marque se distinguent par une approche luxueuse de ses gammes d'appareils de cuisson et du mobilier qui l'accompagne. Ses plans se coordonnent en effet à des façades en acier déclinées en 42 couleurs brillantes, 56 mates et 14 coloris spéciaux. Ce que l'on sait moins, c'est qu'Officine Gullo équipe également les extérieurs, avec ses modèles Outdoor. Ils proposent des éléments modulaires en acier inoxydable à positionner librement, selon les besoins et l'espace, et peuvent accueillir un barbecue qui offre 15 méthodes de cuisson (grillade, fumage, vapeur...). D'autres modules, comme la glacière, les évier avec robinets maison, complètent l'installation.

A single color serves as the guiding thread for the entire project: yellow. Bright, welcoming, and fun, this color adds a touch of personality and energy to the environment. The kitchen goes "lighter up" with a color study, the color Galia Yellow, a warm hue of energy that enhances the design of the Tuscan-style kitchen. Galia kitchen, made entirely of stainless steel with white chrome finishes.

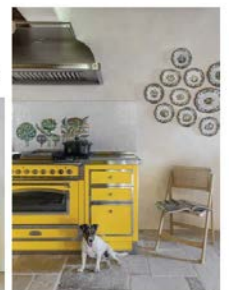

Located in the Tuscan hills, in a splendid villa in Val d'Orcia. The setting, characterized by the rustic charm of exposed wooden beams, sets the kitchen on three sides. The first side features the cooking range from the "Rustic" collection with a burner, a fry top with a multifunction electric oven, complemented by a dome-shaped extraction hood. This side is completed by the backsplash in stainless steel with double doors and two open shelves. The second side features a corner block with a wooden top, drawers, and storage compartments, while the third is dedicated to refrigeration with two columns: one fridge and one freezer, supported by a wooden base with a white rack.
