

SONOCOIN

The First Audible Cryptocurrency

Project Overview

- SonoCoin has developed a unique digitally encrypted audio file that operates on its native blockchain network, using a Proof-of-Stake (PoS) protocol to verify transactions
- SonoCoin combines the uniqueness of audio-based data transfer with the advantages of a blockchain network to offer seamless transactions
- SonoCoin's methods of transaction are designed to be easy-to-use and device-agnostic, representing a highly scalable and flexible alternative to traditional cryptocurrencies
- SonoCoin employs 8 software developers and 5 commercial professionals

Product Overview

- Transmission: SonoCoins are currently transferrable via audio, messenger, and QR code.
- SonomoCoin Wallet: Coins are represented by a .WAV file that be delivered electronically through common channels of communication without requiring public addresses. The file is then uploaded to the application to broadcast change of ownership to the blockchain.
- Storage: A .WAV file format allows users to safely store coins on virtually any digital format including secure cloud services, USB sticks and external hard drivers, etc.
- Blockchain: Native blockchain entirely developed in-house currently being audited by Swisscom Blockchain.
- Security: Access to the SonoCoin application is protected by a choice of password, fingerprint, and or facial recognition. Each .WAV is additionally protected by password encryption.
